

The Daily Courant.

Tuesday, February 12. 1723.

THE following Address has been presented to His Majesty by Robert Willon, Esq; Lieutenant-Governour of the Island of Jersey, being introduced by the Right Honourable the Lord Carteret one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State.

To His most Sacred Majesty GEORGE, by the Grace of God, King of Great Britain, France, and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, &c. The humble Address of the States of the Island of Jersey.

May it please your most Excellent Majesty,

WE your most dutiful and loyal Subjects, crave leave from the Bottom of our Hearts to congratulate your Majesty upon the happy Discovery of the unnatural Conspiracy against your sacred Person and auspicious Government; which, if God (for our Sins) had permitted to succeed, must have ended in our entire Destruction.

Your glorious Reign has been attended with such Wisdom, Justice, and Clemency, as must cause the Admiration of latest Posterity, who will be no less amazed, than we are astonished to hear, that any of your Subjects could be so ungrateful and desperately wicked, as to have endeavoured to dethrone the best of Kings, in order to place your Crown on the Head of an abjured Popish Pretender, from whom Nothing could be expected, but the most dreadful Effects of Revenge, Tyranny, and Superstition.

As we are all true Members of the Church of England, our earnest Concern for her Prosperity obliges us to pray for your sacred Majesty; since not only the Welfare, but the very Being of that Church, doth (under God) depend on your Majesty's Protection, and the Protestant Succession in your Majesty's august Family.

As we have the Happiness to be your Subjects, and are blest with the benign Influences of your gracious Government, not only the most solemn Oaths, joyned with our own Inclinations, but our dear Interests, engage us to be faithful to your Majesty, our only lawful and rightful Sovereign.

May the good Providence of our merciful God, which has so often interposed in your Favour, by happily seating your Majesty on the British Throne, and hitherto confounding all the Devices of your Enemies, ever continue to blast their wicked Attempts, and to baffle their execrable Machinations. And after a long and prosperous Reign, when you shall change your temporal Crown for a much brighter Diadem of eternal Glory, may there never be wanting in your Royal House an Heir of your Virtues (in Peace) to ascend your Throne till Time shall be no more.

Stockholm, Jan. 27. On the 22d Instant, the King returned hither from Hunting; nine Wolves and several Foxes having been killed in the Chace. The Queen has been afflicted with the Head-Ach, and kept her Chamber a few Days past; her Majesty is better to Day, but there will not be any publick Drawing Room yet at Court as usual. The proclaiming of the General Meeting of the States of this Kingdom is put off till To-morrow; the bad stormy Weather attended with Snow and Rain which lasted till Four a-Clock this Afternoon, occasioned the deferring that Ceremony, which otherwise had been done to Day by the Heralds at Arms, Kettle-Drums, and Trumpets, &c. It is believed, that when the States are convened, the King will not go to the House till next Week, the first three or four Days being usually passed in Compliments, chusing a Speaker, and settling the Forms of the House.

Hague, Feb. 12. The States General's Circular Letters for solemnizing a Day of publick Prayer and Fast, on the 3d of next Month, are sent to the several Provinces. ---- The Admiralties continue here, and are daily busy with the States of Holland about the Design of sending a Fleet this Summer into the Mediterranean: Those States have not yet finished the Affair concerning Payment of the Debts of North-Holland, some Difficulties still remaining with the Cities of the Brille and Schiedam. ---- The Dutch Consul at Smyrna writes Word, that the Ottoman Army, to the Number of 40,000 Men on the Confines of Persia, instead of succouring the King, had joined the Rebels who were besieging a City wherein the King himself was, and that they had taken that City, and also the King.
